

WHAT'S NEW IN FASHION & BEAUTY

Clear History

For Michelle Morgan Lockhart, it's all about the golden touch—and pink, orange, green, purple and red. Since 2013, the local designer has been doling out 1950s-inspired Lucite handbags for her line, Charlotte Max, which is named for her grandmother. For her latest collection—dubbed The Galaxy—Lockhart reintroduces the classic box clutch in that same acrylic material and a kaleidoscope of customizable colors. “The clean, contemporary design coupled with the vintage-inspired material is a playful juxtaposition,” she says. “We hope that the elegance and whimsy of these designs will delight a whole new generation of American women.”

Clutch, $425; charlottemax.com

ON THE ROCKS

Omorovicza's 60-minute Blue Diamond facial at Neiman Marcus will give you that extra bit of sparkle around the holidays. Diamond-infused peptides from the Budapest-based brand's new three-step program of products, coupled with an advanced copper compound, increase collagen and elastin to brighten lackluster skin and restore firmness. In other words, you should leave feeling like a million bucks.

Blue Diamond Concentrate, $410, OMOROVICZA, omorovicza.com

FROM SEA TO SKIN

Flush out your pores with aesthetician Joanna Czech's new facial at Michael Flores Salon (1618 Main Street). The treatment's main attraction: La Mer's Intensive Revitalizing Mask, made with its signature Miracle Broth, an antioxidant and marine ingredient-rich blend that fights aging, hydrates the complexion and protects against stress and pollution. Kelp, lime tea concentrate, grapefruit and mint make for a soothing treatment—and all it takes is eight minutes.

MICHAELFLORESSALON.COM
Intensive Revitalizing Mask, $160, LA MER, lamer.com

18-karat gold necklace, $22,900, GUCCI

WHAT'S IN STORE

Fifty-year-old family-owned fine jewelry boutique Eiseman Jewels recently unveiled a newly redesigned NorthPark Center salon. “Fashion reigns with our expansion,” says the company's president and CEO, Richard D. Eiseman Jr. The 3,200-square-foot, Gensler-designed space offers a range of items, including exclusive timepieces from Audemars Piguet, as well as additions from Vacheron Constantin and IWC Schaffhausen and a dedicated diamond and bridal collection. Browse Italian designer Roberto Coin's jeweled animal cuffs, Gucci's horsebit jewelry collection, an expanded estate collection including signed pieces from David Webb and other baubles displayed in bronze-trimmed cases suspended from the ceiling.

8687 NORTH CENTRAL EXPRESSWAY; EISEMANJEWELS.COM

The Root of It

Jo Malone is changing the landscape once again—this time quite literally. The fragrance empire has sponsored an Edible Schoolyard-type farm at Dallas' Larry G. Smith Elementary learning garden, which will house a fragrance bed planted with perfume ingredients including pomegranate and fig trees—a nod to Malone's Pomegranate Noir and Wild Fig & Cassis scents.

Pomegranate Noir cologne, $120, JO MALONE, jomalone.com

JAPANESE FASHION AT CROW COLLECTION OF ASIAN ART

Mary Baskett, a former Cincinnati Art Museum prints curator, puts her wardrobe on display at the Crow Collection of Asian Art. Peruse Baskett's extensive closet, which includes a mash-up of vintage styles from then lesser-known fashion icons like Issey Miyake, Yohji Yamamoto and Rei Kawakubo. The avid collector picked up such iconic pieces during her travels to Japan in the late 1960s. Through February 21.

2010 FLORA STREET; CROWCOLLECTION.ORG

Two x Two for AIDS and Art's 16th annual gala was hosted on October 25 at the Rachofsky House. The fundraiser, which included an auction of contemporary art, honored painter Wade Guyton. TWOXTWO.ORG

2 Upcoming Performances

DOUBLE FEATURE AT THE DALLAS OPERA British composer Joby Talbot's debut opera, Everest, shines a light on a fatal 1996 expedition atop the Himalayan mountain. Staged by Moby Dick's Leonard Foglia, the world-premiere play is paired with Alfredo Catalani's 1892 La Wally, a gripping romance set in the Austrian Alps starring former Aida soprano Latonia Moore. Premieres January 30.

2403 FLORA STREET; DALLASOPERA.ORG

"STAGGER LEE" AT THE DALLAS THEATER CENTER Penned by playwright-in-residence Will Power with Justin Ellington, the premiere of this musical tells the true story of an early 20th-century African-American carriage driver who was convicted of murder and includes an original score chock full of Janis Joplin-inspired tunes, R&B and hip-hop. Through February 15.

2400 FLORA STREET; DALLASTHEATERCENTER.ORG

RAMBLING MAN

Midnight Rambler, the new cocktail bar at the Joule hotel downtown, has a moody feel throughout. The bar features a custom walnut barreled ceiling, brass bar tops and terrazzo checkerboard flooring—not to mention top-notch mixology.

1530 MAIN STREET; THEJOULEDALLAS.COM

